DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-72 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-36, drawn to a method for protecting keratinous fiber comprising applying a C5-C7 saccharide with at least one amino group, classified in class 424, subclass 401.
  - II. Claims 37-72, drawn to a composition comprising a C5-C7 saccharide with at least one amino group, and a kit containing the same, classified in class 424, subclass 401.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions II and I are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product can be used in a materially different process of using that product. For example, glucosamine is an example of a C5-C7 saccharide with at least one amino group. It is noted that glucosamine is discussed on pages 18 and 24 of the specification, and claimed in claim 49. Williams et al (US Pat. 5,679,344) discloses the use of glucosamine compositions for assisting in the healing of joint and connective disease damage (see col. 1, lines 1-

Art Unit: 1617

30), and methods of increasing the uptake of glucosamine in the body (see col. 1, line 34 through col. 4, line 50).

3. It is the position of the examiner that a search for compositions comprised of glucosamine with the limitation of methods of protecting at least one keratinous fiber from extrinsic damage or repairing a keratinous fiber following extrinsic damage would not yield references disclosing compositions comprising the claimed compounds such as the Williams reference. Therefore, there is a serious burden on the examiner to examine both inventions.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: species comprising C5-C7 saccharides with at least one amino group and species comprising at least one additional sugar that is different from the first compound.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for each genus for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, the species of C5-C7 saccharides with at least one amino group are generic, and species comprising at least one additional sugar are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election. By species is meant a single compound.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

6. A telephone call was made to Thomas Irving on 4 February 2002 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Art Unit: 1617

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined and an election of species to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
